Theme/Place:

Outdoor play - Lauro de Freitas / Bahia

Authors:

Natalia Pacheco Alves dos Santos, Solange Magalhães Pacheco e Andressa Sena Santana

Context and objective:

Grão emerges to provide toddlers and children with free and natural play linked to learning, with the aim of contributing to childhood from a respectful and active listening perspective.

Methodology:

Children are invited to play freely using natural and reusable materials through investigative and imaginative contexts, providing multisensory development, as well as the acquisition of different skills through playing in the midst of nature.

Results:

Children develop free and natural play, sharpen the innate childhood curiosity. Children of multiple ages relate to each other, perceive nature and respect it, have a rich exchange of experiences, new perceptions and learn to live in community respecting the other. It is also noticed that families value the development of learning through play.
